

Publisher Interest Form

An Open Book Foundation takes authors and illustrators to underserved schools and gives each child a signed book to take home, often the first book the child has ever owned. In addition, An Open Book gives a book to each classroom and a set of the author's/illustrator's books to the school library. Authors and illustrators find the experience both fun and rewarding.

We welcome book donations, and will thank contributing publishers on our website. Publishers whose contributions are substantial may have their company's name and logo printed on a series of An Open Book bookplates, which are affixed in each donated book. Please inquire for more details.

- We schedule events throughout the school year for grades pre-K through 12.
- We schedule time for signing and provide local transportation to and from the event.
- Once you have signed up with AOB using the form below, we will be in touch with you about scheduling events.

If you and your company are interested in working with An Open Book, but you do not have a specific author or illustrator in mind, please skip the italicized portion at the end of this form.
